LEATHER DETAIL

Leather is the natural defender against many risks. It is strong, flexible, and absorbent in many conditions. All of our leather gloves are made keeping in mind the conditions and risks where they are supposed to be used.

Split Leather is mostly obtained from thicker leather which is mostly Cow hide, Ox hide because of the high thickness of skin of these animals. The gloves made from split leather are used in tougher conditions and are more resistant to heat and rough surfaces.

Grain Leather is very soft, comfortable in wearing and the gloves made from this leather have high finger sensitivity and maneuverability.

Cow Leather is very strong leather and has more durability than any other leather. The gloves made in this leather are breathable, durable, heat resistant, water resistant and long life.

Goat Leather is also proven to be one of the stronger and durable leather. The natural lanolin produced by goatskin assists to create the softest and yet abrasion resistant leather. The leather is highly recommended for tactile sensitive applications.

Sheep Leather is very soft but not very strong. It has high finger sensitivity level and very silky feeling.
